

Finishing Stafford Road parking

We were worried when we lost control of the council that this project would never be completed so we went straight into action to fight for it. We are delighted to say that the money has been allocated to do the second phase. Planning work will start shortly.

Conservatives – Honouring our Commitments

Silver Close Island We got the weeds cleared and wood chip put down but the promised planting has not happened. We will chase up what has been going on.

The Weald Stone Inn The last Conservative council refused a phone mast outside the pub. We were pleased the Inspector agreed, he rejected the phone company's appeal.

Weald School Footpath The light down this path had been broken for a long time. We complained to the officers who have now fixed it.

West Drive The builder at number 5 has broken lots of the paving slabs. We spoke to the officers and they have got the builder to agree to pay for the repair when the work is finished.

Speeding

This problem keeps getting worse. We have spoken to the police again and they are training more officers to use the speed trap and bringing in vehicle support to deal with the problem.

Courtenay Ave Speeding and Accidents

We had complaints about the traffic here so made some enquiries. There have been 11 accidents, including one serious one, 7 were around the junction with Long Elmes. We have spoken to the police and they are going to survey after the school holidays. We will let you know what they recommend.

Labour Promises – What are they worth?

We have been surprised at the speed that Labour have dumped their manifesto commitments. They promised to “Allow local residents to address committees”. One of their first decisions was to scrap Cabinet Question Time when the public could ask their own questions.

Overgrown Hedges

Some hedges in Kingfisher Close had grown until “they were nearly as tall as the house”. They were an eyesore and got in the way when parking.

"I contacted my councillor and he arranged for these to be cut within a week"

Karen Parker Cruse, Kingfisher Close

Cedars Park – Antisocial Behaviour

The problems in the park and surrounding roads seem to have got worse recently. We have discussed the issues with the police and the Antisocial Behaviour team from the council.

The police have agreed to include the area in the Wealdstone police patrol area and to change the shift pattern of the Safer Neighbourhood Team to cover more evenings.

Let us know if things get better.

Repairs to Council Houses

We recently called on a house on Courtenay Avenue where the bedroom ceiling had collapsed. The residents could not sleep in the bedroom. We got a temporary repair so the room could be used and then a permanent fix.

If you have problems with your council house get in touch. We will ask for repairs to be done.
